Special Guest

- Dr Sheryl Jonescu

Sheryl is a dedicated nurse with more than 20 years of experience in surgical nursing. She has worked as Trauma Case Manager at Royal Perth Hospital for over 16 years which, is the second busiest Trauma department in Australia. Sheryl is dedicated to providing expert timely clinical care with clear and concise plans for patients, coordinating complex cases including international repatriations.

Family and Domestic Violence (FDV) Education – Unit 2

- Stopping family violence Inc

This session is designed for volunteers to deepen participants understanding of Family Domestic Violence (FDV) dynamics and building confidence in providing informed, compassionate care.

Through pre-learning and an interactive in-person session, participants will explore perpetrator patterns, the role of intersectionality, and reasons behind the mistrust of services.

The workshop emphasises the use of FDV informed language, how to engage with victim-survivors respectfully, and the practical application of tools like the ePCR tick box. Volunteers will leave better equipped to recognise, respond to, and support those experiencing FDV in their care.

Walking Together

- Jeremy Maitland Smith
& Jordan Mogridge

An immersive and thought provoking workshop designed to deepen participants' understanding of Aboriginal health through cultural knowledge, lived experience, and data-informed insight.

Grounded in respect and connection to Country. The session will include interactive polls, hands-on cultural activities, and a heartfelt yarning session with First Nations voices. Participants will explore key concepts such as intergenerational trauma, epigenetics, and systemic health disparities. Practical insights into St John WA's initiatives will underscore the real-world impact of culturally informed care. Participants will leave with greater empathy, actionable knowledge, and a renewed commitment to walking alongside Aboriginal communities toward health equity.

Calm Behind the Crowd

- Lilly Sharp & Phil Townsend

Practical insights into delivering effective medical support at large-scale events. An interactive desktop exercise will simulate a mass casualty scenario, in turn highlighting the principles of Preparation, Planning, Response, and Recovery.

Participants will experience, through collaborative strategies and lessons from real-world deployments, how to enhance preparedness, manage major incidents, and support continuous improvement through post-event recovery.

More than Words: Leading with heart, living with purpose

- Stacey Croot & Leah Rose

An interactive session taking the St John Values from words to simple actions that can be embedded in our everyday work lives.

Airway Management for Volunteers

- Ben Gilbert

This airway workshop is an opportunity for participants to drill into the finer techniques of airway management, and explore precisely when and how to implement different equipment and skills in order to maximise patient outcomes.
